Looking to the Future: Legal and Policy Options for Racially Integrated Education in the South and the Nation

Hosted by UNC School of Law, the Civil Rights Project/Proyecto Derechos Civiles at UCLA, and the University of Georgia Education Policy and Evaluation Center

University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill,
Carolina Club, George Watts Hill Alumni Center
April 2, 2009
8:00 a.m. - 5:30 p.m.

The Center for Civil Rights at UNC School of Law, the Civil Rights Project/Proyecto Derechos Civiles at UCLA, and the University of Georgia Education Policy and Evaluation Center are pleased to host a conference in Chapel Hill for advocates, scholars, organizers, litigators, researchers and students committed to integrated schools in the South and the nation.

The conference will focus on the future of integrated public education in the wake of the 2007 U.S. Supreme Court decision in Parents Involved in Community Schools v. Seattle School District No. 1 (PICS).

More than 20 nationally acclaimed social scientists and attorneys will discuss topics including:

- Making the Case for Integration
- Evaluating Socio-economic Based Assignment Plans
- Finding Viable Legal Strategies for Racial Equity post-PICS
- Building Political Will for Integrated Schools post-PICS
- Achieving Racial Equity through Strategic Public Policies
