SAN DIEGO STATE UNIVERSITY

Second Annual Symposium: The Role of School Districts in Creating and Sustaining High Performing Urban Schools

May 4-5, 2007
Registration $250

The Doubletree Hotel Mission Valley
San Diego, California

Come meet urban school leaders who have created learning environments in which children of color excel academically and behaviorally, without overrepresentations in special education. Hear how these leaders from cities across the country have created cultures of school success by engaging faculty, staff, parents, and students.

Meet the winners of the 2007 Excellence in Education Award and ask your questions about the pursuit of excellent teaching and learning for diverse racial/ethnic populations of students, as well as English learners and students with disabilities.

Hear internationally renowned keynote speakers and award-winning superintendents offer powerful insights on district leadership strategies for promoting and sustaining high performance.

Keynote Speakers:
